WELCOME TO
"THE WORTHINGTON WELSH SEVENS FOR THE SNELLING TROPHY"

from: BRIAN BLAKE, MANAGING DIRECTOR, WELSH BREWERS LTD.

Welcome to Cardiff Arms Park and to the Worthington Welsh "Sevens" for the Snelling Trophy.

Welsh Brewers are delighted to be the new sponsor of one of the leading "Sevens" Competitions in the United Kingdom and we believe that under the Worthington Best Bitter banner our sponsorship will benefit the Tournament in particular, and Welsh Rugby in general.

My company has a long history of involvement with the game in Wales.

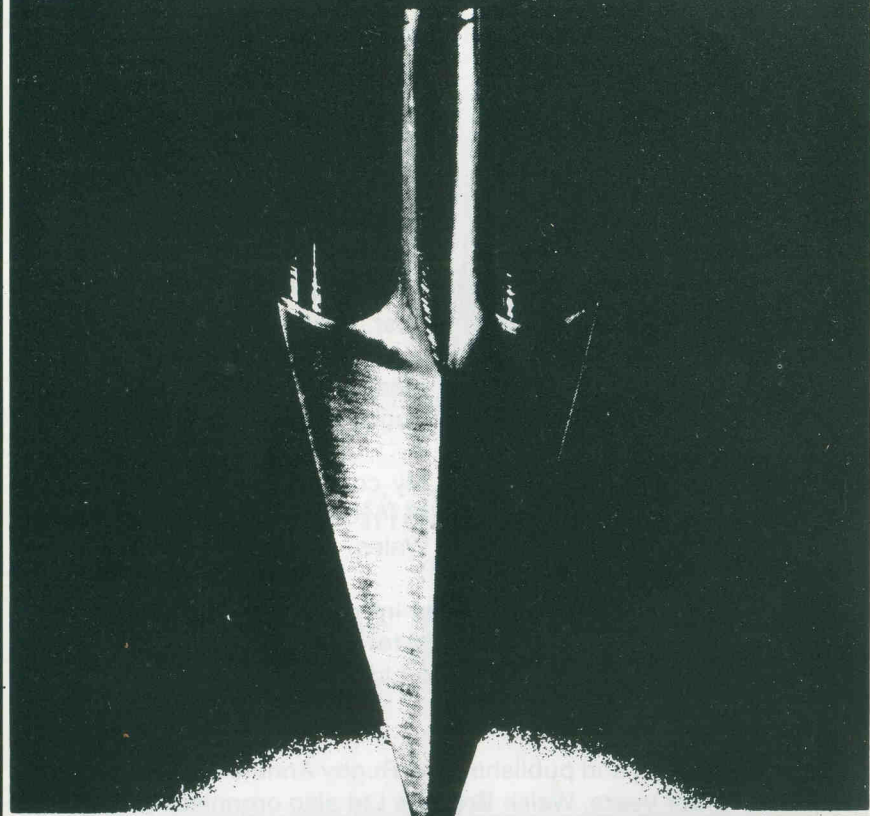

The four three quarters system was introduced to World Rugby in 1884 by Frank Hancock whilst playing for Cardiff Rugby Club. He was a Director of William Hancock & Co Ltd., a constituent company of Welsh Brewers Ltd.

Besides producing and publishing the Rugby Annual for Wales for the past twenty four years, Welsh Brewers Ltd also organises and sponsors the "end of season" Welsh Rugby Presentation Evening, the thirtieth was held last May.

Our support for Welsh Rugby at "grass roots" level involves sponsorship of the Welsh Districts Rugby Union, West Wales Rugby Union, Mid District Rugby Union, Monmouthshire Rugby Union, Llanelli & District Rugby Union and the Newport & District Rugby Union.

Now we are privileged to be associated with another well respected organisation and we are confident that through our combined endeavours you will have a most enjoyable afternoon of action packed Rugby.

STRONGBOW

Straight to your thirst.

"WE CANNOT PLAY WITHOUT THEM . . . REFEREES"

During the history of the Snelling Sevens, (inaugurated in 1954) Welsh rugby on the field has gone through various phases including the halcyon days of the 70s and the traumatic times of the 80s, while off the field the whole period has seen the structure of the Welsh Rugby Union continuously come under the microscope. None more so than in the immediate past few years and Welsh rugby and the rugby world as a whole eagerly awaits the outcome of the recently circulated questionnaire and the special General Meeting to be held later this year.

Throughout the last forty years one aspect of Welsh rugby that has maintained its leading position in World rugby has been the standard of our referees and the Snelling Organisation has had their full support throughout its history. Their support for the Tournament cannot be faulted and the Organisation is proud that all the leading Welsh referees of the last forty years have officiated on their behalf. For many a Snelling final has been the stepping stone into a career that has established them as household names in the rugby world and achieving International recognition.

This afternoon the Snelling Sevens Organisation is once again supported by eight of the leading referees in Welsh rugby, some of whom are already established on the International scene, while the others are looking to the future with great anticipation.

No doubt the World Cup Sevens Tournament to be held at Murrayfield in April 1993 will be pencilled into their diaries and should they require any form of reference the Snelling Organisation will only be too pleased to oblige. This is the ideal opportunity to congratulate Derek Bevan on his magnificent handling of the Rugby World Cup Final, wish the charismatic Clive Norling (if free from his TV commitments) a season of good health and full fitness, and wish Les Peard's successor on the International panel every success.

We thank all today's referees and those of the past for their support and we are confident that together with all the other referees of the Welsh Rugby Union you will not only maintain your reputation in World rugby but ensure that your implementation of the new laws will make the 1992/93 season a memorable one on the field of play.

With the World Cup Sevens taking place at Murrayfield in April 1993 and with Wales being one of the 24 countries taking part, Robert Norster and Alan Davies and their appointed Selectors have already been talent spotting and there is no doubt that this afternoon there will be many players taking part who will be under the microscope for the final 10 players who will represent Wales at Murrayfield. Why not act as a selector and make a list of 10 names from today's Tournament and compare them with the official 10 when they are named. Remember, Sevens is a completely different game from the 15-a-side game and requires a special brand of player. Good luck with your selection and good luck to Wales next April.
