Cardiff v. Newbridge

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 19th, 1994
KICK-OFF 2.30 p.m.

THE HEINEKEN League Division One match scheduled with Pontypridd for the Arms Park on Saturday, December 24, has been re-arranged.

The match, which could have crucial effects on the final destination of the championship, will now be played on the previous Thursday evening, December 22nd, with a 7.15 kick-off.

Few players certainly would have relished being involved in such a vital game on Christmas Eve — and supporters would also clearly have been affected with the early closure of public transport, quite apart from other pre-Christmas considerations.

Even more problematic has been the difficulty of finding an attractive side to come to the Arms Park on Boxing Day.

However, a match has now been arranged with the blossoming Cardiff Institute who will surely provide fine festive fare while giving the chance to see stars of the future. The Institute, currently joint second in Division 4, have in the past provided many caps like Gareth Edwards and of our current team, players like Jonathan Humphreys and Colin Laity were educated there. Further details about an entertaining afternoon will be announced shortly.

Today, it is Heineken League as well of course and we welcome Newbridge with their officials, players and followers. Elsewhere in the programme Dai Hayward suggests quite rightly that their league position may not be a reflection of their capabilities and you do not need a long memory to recall that the first four league meetings between the clubs brought Newbridge victories.

Our current success has to some extent been recognised by the Welsh selectors as Derwyn Jones will win his first cap against South Africa next Saturday — well done, Legend — and he is joined in the team by Mike Hall, Hemi Taylor, Emyr Lewis and Simon Hill and in the squad by Adrian Davies and Mike Griffiths. Good luck, lads.

Finally, today's match sponsors are Welsh Brewers Ltd. We thank them most sincerely and trust that they, their guests and all at the Park today enjoy a thoroughly entertaining match.

QUIDNUNC'S COLUMN

UNDERSTANDABLY, Mr Simon David Hill is a happy man. Next Saturday, he wins his sixth cap for Wales when he turns out on the wing against South Africa not long after perhaps feeling that he was moving backwards in the minds of the selectors.

Secondly, he has completed all his written examinations on the way to becoming a qualified dentist in 18 months — "I am not a former dental student despite what has been written elsewhere," he says, "and I am still training at the Cardiff Dental Hospital."

This second point about exams could be crucial. Over the years, Simon has missed out on various tours, sevens tournaments and so on (including the Cardiff trip to Australia) because of examinations during May.

His emergence back into the Welsh team — he was only on the replacements bench for the Wales A international against the tourists at Newport — leaves the door still open for a World Cup squad place next Spring and Summer. And there are no exams this time.

Apparently Jonathan Humphreys is attempting to take all the credit insofar as he was captain when Simon scored a hat-trick against Abertillery the other Saturday. "My inspired leadership," claims Humph, "brought you back to the selectors' notice."

Either way, Simon, who was born in Barry (at the maternity hospital) on May 27, 1968, is playing some of the best rugby of his career despite being called "The Dopey Dentist" by coaching organiser Alex Evans.

His teammates call him Benny (after the comedian) and many supporters use the nickname "Shimmy" both because of his running and speed rather than as rhyming match for the long-chinned television soccer pundit Jimmy of the same ilk.

Mr Hill is a man of no mean talents. He gained A levels in Physics, Chemistry and Biology at Llantwit Major Comprehensive, where he also played out-half after hooking at his junior school, and went on to read Microbiology at Leeds University.

Why Leeds? "It was the only place that would have me," he says modestly, "and microbiology was just a temporary thing to get a degree." Indeed, he rather fancied being a vet at that time — his uncle has a farm in the Vale and his mother breeds Borzois — but he finally came down on the side of dentistry.

This is at least some use to his colleagues insofar as they go to him for their gumshields and fittings. The mind boggles as to what they would have done had he been a vet.

Between the drillings and fillings which take up most of his pre-qualification practical work, he also manages to sail quite a bit in summer (he is currently awaiting a presentation evening when he will receive seven prizes as a member of the crew of a successful yacht in the Channel area out of Barry Yacht Club. "I'm just a general dogsbody, putting up spinnakers and that sort of thing," he explains.

He continues to go steady with Emma, a Llantwit lass who is studying European Business Admin in London, but has as yet failed to persuade big Derwyn, Humph and Hemi Taylor that their guitar trio should become a quartet. "I haven't had the time to master the instrument yet," he acknowledges, "which is a pity because they badly need a singer to put Humph out of his misery. His voice really is terrible..."

Simon also plays a bit of golf — off 21 at St Athan. It was, in fact, golf that brought him to Cardiff about five seasons

GIVE SIMON HILL an inch and he'll take a ... but then he's gone, as Abertillery full-back Andrew Price discovered during Simon's sparkling hat-trick on Fireworks Day.

ago. At a Latch charity day, he started talking to John Scott and explained that he had been playing for Headingley (now combined with Roundhay as Leeds) while at University and Scotty suggested he came for a trial.

The fact that he shares a flat with Luc Evans might have had something to do with that there was a brief temptation to go to Treorchy (Chris John, Phillip and Matthew Wintle are also members of the flat, along with a long-suffering girl called Rachel Thorpe who has to put up with their combined untidiness and rugby kit scattered about the place).

And though Simon may sing "Wild Thing" when called upon to do an act – "Not a pretty sight," he admits – he is determined to keep away from the Chris John School for Advanced Gamblers at which Chris Mills and Jason Hewlett are students. Chris John, indeed, has this week been working furiously at a way of cracking the National Lottery; only time will tell now.

He reads a lot, does crosswords (Sun, Western Mail), makes spaghetti bolognese, eats at the Happy Gathering or the Six Bells at Penmark on special occasions, drinks the odd pint of bitter, watches Cracker and Home and Away on television, and salutes magpies.

And, curiously, had he not been playing for Wales next Saturday, he could have achieved another ambition. Those May exams have in the past prevented him from being able to accept invitations for many romantic Sevens tournaments abroad. Next weekend, had Wales not come along, he was due to play in the Dubai Sevens.

ROMANCE IN THE OVERSEAS AIR

QUITE THE FASHION, apparently, to get married abroad.

Last weekend in Orlando, Florida, for example, our quiet but intrepid Welsh back-row warrior of New Zealand descent, Hemi Taylor, tied the knot with Ceri.

And, even further afield on Monday, Karl Williams, one of the popular organisers of the Junior Blue and Blacks will on Monday in Mauritius be married to Karen Hughes.

Karen's father, incidentally, is such a keen Cardiff enthusiast that he has one of the hospitality suites.

SPECIAL OFFER FROM 'JUNIOR' SPONSORS

THE JUNIOR Blue and Blacks Club, whose activities we catalogue in each major programme (see page 23) now have their own major sponsor – and are making a special Christmas offer to Cardiff supporters.

The Panasonic Technics Centre, whose shop in Cardiff's Queens Arcade has just been opened by Mr Thomas Ise, managing director of Panasonic UK Ltd., have agreed a deal whereby they sponsor many of the club's activities, including quizzes, competitions, subsidies for away trips and to help in general to develop the interest of younger supporters in the future of the club.

Their Cardiff store, says the manager Peter Mickler, is the first of a new "lifestyle" design which is oriented towards total family involvement, with a customised Mini with a built-in car hi-fi unit, sound rooms, kitchen and bathroom areas, and a video camera bar – overlooking a creche.

"We pledge not only that you will get the best possible price on our vast range but we will also deliver and install the products free of charge," says Mr Mickler.

One of the directors who will be present today Mr Stuart Cook, in fact, once vice-captained England Under 16s against Wales at the Arms Park.

And that offer to Cardiff supporters? As a special promotion until Christmas the Panasonic Technics Centre offers not only interest free credit on a range of TV and videos (subject to status) but also a 10 per cent cheque back facility on production of this programme in the Cardiff store.

Spend £1,000, for example, and you receive a cheque for £100 to be spent in the Cardiff Panasonic Technics Centre (on all purchases over £200).

PIRATES ARE READY TO COME ABOARD

EAGLE-EYED devourers of the programme will possibly note that on our "fixtures and fittings" on pages 26 and 27, the date of Thursday, November 24, now reads "The Pirates" instead of Natal Select.

The Pirates, who are in fact from East London in the Cape Province, are a developing side who arrived in this country this week with a fixture list which began at Bournemouth on Tuesday and

FISHY TALE OF FORMER TEAMMATES

SOMETHING FISHY – and doesn't it taste good! GARETH EDWARDS and PAT DANIELS were teammates for both Cardiff and Wales in the late seventies. And now they still catch and pass to each other. Gareth, as you will know, is a very keen and expert fisherman. Pat runs Welsh Smoked Products Ltd, smoking salmon, prawns, trout and other goodies for hotels, restaurants and retailers in the South Wales area from his smokery next to the Greendown pub at Drope.

Not surprisingly, then, the two of them get together when Gareth has been out on the river – and your Miscellany correspondent was fortunate enough to be present to sample the end products.

Gareth catches the fish, brings them to Pat who fillets and smokes them in a special wood mixture, mainly oak.

All Pat's salmon are not of course caught by Mr Edwards. The Western Mail and Echo are shortly to begin a special readers' offer of Pat's smoked salmon for Christmas. They won't be Gareth's but it's tremendous value and very, very tasty.

The catch is delivered by Gareth Edwards (above left) at the smokery in Drope, cleaned and filleted by Pat Daniels and, with one prepared earlier, thoroughly enjoyed in the neighbouring Greendown.

MORE MISCELLANY

takes in Harrow and Worcester before they play Newport next Tuesday and Cardiff on the Thursday.

They will then watch the Wales-South Africa game on the Saturday before playing Nottingham on the Sunday.

Quite how strong they are remains to be seen but one thing is certain: no South African side should be taken lightly—but they got off to an unhappy start by losing 16-8 at Bournemouth on Tuesday.

★ ★ TOAST THE CHAIRMAN ★ ★

CONGRATULATIONS today to Newbridge chairman HOWARD ROBERTS on his 50th birthday.

Welcome to the Arms Park, Howard, in the hope that you have a memorable day — one way or another.

... WITH A TASTY CUP

AWAY FROM the Leagues today, the Third and Fourth Division clubs have joined in the SWALEC Cup with the chances of giantkilling and the opportunity to join the top clubs in the fourth-round draw early next week.

One of today's winners, of course, will have on December 17, the task of attempting to knock from a lofty perch the holders — namely, Cardiff!

The local Cardiff interest today is substantial. Glamorgan Wanderers, for example, go to Croesyceiliog who are in the Division Six East, and the Old Illydians have even further to travel — to Aberystwyth.

Old Penarthians are at home to New Dock Stars and Pentrych, which can be called 'local', entertain Risca.

Oh yes, and just in case you have forgotten the name in the cup context, our friends St. Peter's are also at home — to Bargoed.

Perhaps the most intriguing, and with the likelihood of an upset, is Fourth Division Cardiff Institute's home tie with Third Division Tredegar. With the Institute's rugby future in a bit of doubt, and recalling previous Cardiff cup-ties with the Training College as was and their habit of producing internationals, it is tempting to wish them well.

ELSEWHERE...

IN DIVISION ONE, meanwhile, Pontypridd were originally due to travel to Llanelli today but the game has been postponed as Pontypridd have the South Africans as their visitors on Tuesday evening.

Dunvant meet Abertillery, Bridgend go up the Rhondda to Treorchy, Swansea play Neath and, in an intriguing all-Gwent relegation-threatened match, Pontypool are

CARDIFF v. NEWBRIDGE

— the statistics

NEWBRIDGE shocked Cardiff by winning the first four Heineken League matches played between the two clubs — by 11-0, 18-9, 6-3 and 16-4.

Since then, in the past two seasons, the balance has been levelled as Cardiff recorded 39-14, 24-12, 36-0 and 33-3 victories.

Overall, since the first fixture in 1964, the clubs have met on 30 occasions with Cardiff winning 20 times and Newbridge eight. There have been two draws.

Cardiff have scored 443 points and Newbridge 308 in this time.

at home to Newport (league tables are on page 24).

TERRY'S FANTASY

FOLLOWERS of the Western Mail's Fantasy Rugby, which carries a first prize of £5,000, may have noted in 11th place in Wednesday's edition, was Charlo's Choice, the XV of Cardiff Committee man Terry Charles.

With 347 points to date, Terry is still some way behind the leader, a gentleman called Ryan Davies, on 385 — but there's a long way to go.

We also spot in the top 50, Jake's Allstars, allegedly managed by one Jacob Moore, with 328 points.

Is it coincidence, we ask, that scrum-half Andy Moore's son is called Jacob? Or have we been misinformed?

If there's any Cardiff supporter we haven't spotted in the top 50, will they please let the programme editor know?

★ ★ PRESENTS FOR ALL ★ ★

CHRISTMAS, as you have no doubt noted, is suddenly looming ahead large.

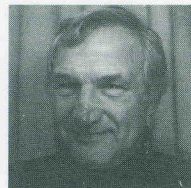

In the Cardiff Club shop, there are items to suit all sexes, shapes, sizes and pockets — from major kit to stocking-filler keyrings.

Or, if you require time to think, then you might like to see our Mail Order Catalogue.

If you want a copy, give Cathy a ring on Cardiff 382006.

Christmas lunch bookings are also being taken now in the Clubhouse.

GUEST APPEARANCE

DAI HAYWARD, seven times capped by Wales while playing for Cardiff but who cut some of his rugby teeth with Newbridge, writes now for a variety of newspapers and rugby magazines. Here he brings his impish humour to the day but warns the Newbridge...

LEAGUE POSITION MAY BE FALSE

IN THIS, the season of 'mists and mellow fruitfulness' all should be bountiful and harmonious, as we store up our larders and our energy, for the season of goodwill to come.

But all is not harmonious and there is precious little goodwill to all men. The papers are full of supposed confessions of adulterous politicians, garrulous goalkeepers, vindictive Grand Prix drivers, crooked cricketers, and controversy has haunted the South African Rugby Tour.

Are we that much more evil than our forefathers, or does the press in its frantic search for circulation, concentrate and then elaborate on the seamier side of mans fallibilities?

We will have none of that in today's programme, but just before we proceed I must admit that I once threw a match. And your programme editor Duncan Gardiner is still waiting for me to throw the cigarette that should have gone with it.

Today we welcome Newbridge, with the warmth deserved by a Club with whom we have always had a close and uncontroversial relationship. That could be because they don't beat us too often at The Arms Park.

However, without being controversial, Newbridge did beat us here on 4th January, 1964. It shows as a 3-3 draw in the records, but Arthur Hughes scored a perfectly good try that day, which was disallowed by the referee.

I know because I was there, and saw it. Albeit from a worms-eye view, lying prone, after Arthur had run right through me, and trampled me into the mud.

Newbridge arrive today with a team full of confidence after beating Pontypool last Saturday. Indeed, but for two very narrow defeats against Neath and Bridgend they would be sitting pretty, well placed in the upper echelons of Division One, instead hovering with their Gwent butties at the wrong end of the table. Cardiff will not be fielding their full side for obvious reasons, and should beware of underestimating the latent talent and spirit of this Newbridge team, that has a nice blend of youth and experience.

With ex-Cardiff players, Paul Kawulok, Peter Craven and Paul Edwards in their pack they should know a thing or two about today's opposition. Peter Crane is rated by many, including myself, as the best, pure open-side in Wales, and with Andrew Gibbs rapidly rediscovering his prodigious potential, they should field a formidable back row.

It was the pressure applied to the Pontypool scrum that finally gained Newbridge their win.

Paul Edwards, Nigel Meek and Brendan Fischer, were rock solid, and with Paul Kawulok and Chris Crane providing plenty of weight, they eventually overcame the Pontypool pack. Ray Prosser must have been apopleptic — particularly when it is realised that Chris Crane, an Oxford Blue from Pontypool, is a solicitor practising in his home town.

Perhaps the scales of justice were weighted against Pontypool on the day.

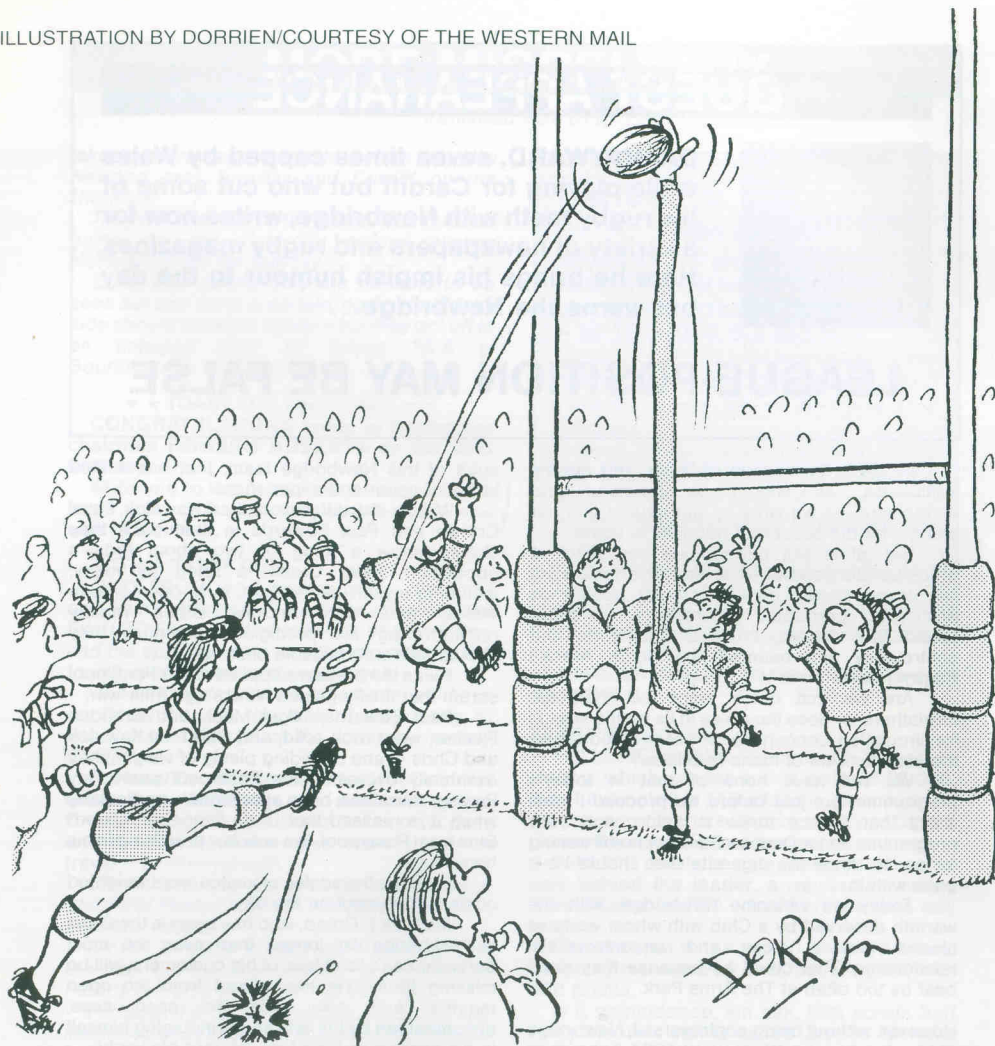

Michael T. Croad, who has been in the Chair at Newbridge far longer than even the most persistent and toothless of his customers, will be missing today. He has retired from the open mouths, and now sails the open seas, accompanied by his wife and is indulging himself in his second or third love, aboard his yacht.

It is rumoured he will stay afloat. Captain of his ship, until his wife realises that mutiny is no longer punished by walking the plank.

Sadly, there is another absentee who is of far more relevance to the Newbridge cause today.

Steve Fealey, a gifted and determined scrum half, with rare skills of leadership, will also be missing, and grievously missed. His unfortunate and untimely death has left the Newbridge Club with much more than the shock of his passing, and a position to fill. He was one of a rare breed.

On 27th December at Newbridge Welfare Ground, Newbridge will play a Crawshays Welsh XV in a Memorial game to aid his Appeal Fund. If you can make it, you will be very welcome at what is guaranteed to be a very special event.

sponsored by MORGAN
BRUCE
SOLICITORS

J. E. MALCOLM THOMAS
asks when a boot going on to a player may not be foul play.

'RUCKING OUT'

It is now quite common to see players on their feet using their boots on opposition players on the ground.

Is there any occasion when a boot going on to a player can be considered not to be wilful hacking, kicking, stamping or trampling? How often do you hear, "he got what he deserved because he was on the wrong side"?

What is acceptable to players, coaches and referees? What is permissible; what does the law permit?

Players must never place a boot, stamp on, or kick another player's head. Players must never stamp "up and down" on players on the ground. Players must not use their boots in retribution for other offences.

Referees must blow their whistles early if players are on the ground and it is likely that boots will be used. Referees should deal quickly with players who deliberately go to ground and kill the ball.

Players should attempt to step over the man, or men, and ball to leave the ball on their side without contact with the player on the ground.

They may use their feet to move players with the ball, providing the players on their feet are, (1) moving forward, (2) their studs are facing backwards, and (3) the ball is in close proximity to the player on the ground.

THE MERRY MASCOTS

TODAY'S Match Mascot is DAVID NEWMAN who goes to New College, Cardiff (could be a relative of Bob? - Ed), who lists rugby and Tae Kwon Do as his hobbies and ANDY MOORE, MIKE RAYER and MIKE HALL as his favourite players.

On the right is 10 year-old LAURA WATKINS who was mascot for the Gloucester game. Laura, who lives in Quaker's Yard, Treharris, is also keen on swimming and goes to Edwardsville Junior School. She and her brother DANIEL sponsor Howard Stone (see page 21) so it's not surprising that she names Howard, Nigel Walker and Mike Rayer as her favourite players.

HOW TO BECOME A JUNIOR BLUE AND BLACK IN TIME FOR CHRISTMAS

Join the Junior Blue and Blacks and you too can be a mascot for the day. There's loads of fun for all the family . . . .

- ◆ Own Clubhouse and stand accommodation at Westgate Street end for Saturday Heineken League matches.
- ◆ Coffee shop and snacks available before, during and after match.
- ◆ Bar facilities for parents before and after match.
- ◆ Prize quiz and meet the players after the match.
- ◆ Watch out for special Christmas and New Year events.
- ◆ Chance to become match mascots or ballgirls and ballboys.

Membership is available for 12-15 year olds without accompanying adult.

TODAY'S PRIZE COMPETITION

HERE are four more illustrations which show in different form the name of four Cardiff players.

All you have to do is solve the problem and collect the tokens from the foot of the page and be ready to send them in with answers to this and the previous puzzles to Steve, Richard or Carl.

HANCOCKS HB

Hancocks HB is and always has been one of the most popular cask ales in Wales. As the 'HB' on the handpump suggests, it has been 'Home Brewed' in Cardiff since 1886.

HB's clean, crisp taste and delicate hoppiness has gained it a reputation as a refreshing, flavoursome pint which goes down well anytime.
